The Powerful Profits from Purchase Order Funding

It is of course a very good thing that your company is able to render services that allows you to obtain purchase orders. But it is simultaneously a very detrimental and momentum immobilizing thing to have to inconveniently wait to get paid for the services that have already been requested from you from another company in the form of a purchase order.

But fortunately, this problem can be easily, quickly, and permanently solved in a manner that will allow you to immediately and in advance receive the money owed to you from a purchase order. This means that your company can receive your money from a purchase order NOW instead of having to wait. The solution to the problem is Purchase Order Funding.

Essentially how it works is that a Funding Source Company will agree to advance a discounted lump sum of money (up to 95%) against the expected amount that you have coming to you from the corporate or municipal entity that has issued you a purchase order (a request of products and/ or services and a promise to pay). This will provide you with the necessary working capital to sustain, propel, enhance, and prosper your company. Profit Increase Funding, Inc. has over 150 Funding Source Companies with billions of dollars to invest to make this very possible and highly profitable for you. With this powerful and debt-free financing tool in place, your company will be in a position to excel and exceed in a manner that is competitively and incomparably unmatched and wisely applicable to expediting and maximizing your profits. There will no longer be any concern about paying your employees, initiating or continuing research and development, paying the bills that are implicitly involved in conducting business, paying your suppliers, or searching for and finding increasingly better and higher paying clients/customers and providing them with increasingly better service and satisfaction from you.

Many times purchase order funding can assist a company in becoming and remaining prepared and maximally efficient in being lucratively savvy for the bidding for contracts process that is often involved for them to succeed in their particular industry. For example, when a company such as yours is asked to bid on a contract, it typically requires the company to expeditiously bid but then to slowly and nonproductively wait for the contract to be awarded to them. Then once your company is awarded the contract, you could very likely experience very rapid growth and therefore need to obtain large amounts of cash in order to sustain, optimize, and ensure that growth advantage.

Purchase order funding and Profit Increase Funding will enable your company to receive that advantage. Therefore, purchase order funding (also known as contract funding) will not only allow your company to be able to sustain, optimize, and ensure growth, but to also be in a position to already possess the financial resources necessary to not only beat your competition but to surpass your own current standards of excellence and corporate capability and to create new and higher standards and methodologies for ensuring the attainability of your goals.

This will also give your company the ability to: (1) respond faster to the immediate sales and delivery product/services needs of your customers (2) provide you with more funds necessary for more manufacturing to lead to more profits (3) more easily meet or beat your deadlines and do so faster than your competitors which can give you a definite and powerful advantage that can be strategically marketed to increase profits (4) create and implement far more productive and efficient ways of bidding on and obtaining more contracts to sell much more of your products/services, thus immensely increasing your profits (5) deliver orders without severely draining or worse, totally depleting your working capital (6) acquire a foundation to allow and provide for future growth without exceeding your present financial capabilities (7) handle larger and more numerous individual orders, and much more.

Conventional banks are not lending and even when they do they have very rigid lending standards that either make it very difficult, very impossible or at the very least very expensive for you to obtain cash; and the very bad part is that you have to pay that money back with interest. Contrarily, purchase order funding is a debt-free tool that only requires that your company have creditworthy and reliably paying corporate and/or government customers.
