The Benefits of Pension Financing: Access to Future Cash Payments -- Now!

By Brian Strugs

Currently, approximately 20 million Americans are receiving monthly incremented pension payments. Unfortunately, at the time of this writing, there is no way for pension recipients to borrow money from their pension plans. Consequently, many retired Americans have had to resort to working second jobs, obtaining an unwanted second mortgage on their home, or depending on their children and/or other relatives to supplement their income or outright take care of them. To make matters worse, as inflation constantly increases and the value of the dollar and its buying power decreases, the retired pension recipient's monthly pension check amount will not increase.

Adding to this dismal and disheartening reality, those still in the workforce do not have any problem finding available loans. However, the same opportunity is sadly nonexistent for pension recipients who have retired from the workforce.

Not all is lost because now there is Advance Pension Financing (APF) to the rescue. APF allows pension recipients to receive a lump sum of cash for up to 95 percent of the face value of the APF, and minus a small fee in the form of a cash advance (up to eight years in advance). This financial procedure is accomplished by the pension recipient allowing a funding source company (also known as a Factor) to purchase their future pension payments from them for up to 95 percent of the face value of the APF, and minus a small fee. This process is called Factoring. APF through its unconventional methodology provides pension recipients with the prosperous privilege of acquiring the ability to utilize the money from their future pension benefits at today's current value of money. This is money that pension recipients can use in any way they choose to maintain and enhance their lives. A pension recipient may Factor six months or multiple years or all that they select.

APF, through Profit Increase Funding (a cash flow consultant company) can provide a debt-free lump sum of cash to pension recipients for the following reasons:

1. Retirement purposes and expenses
2. Starting a business or to invest in other profitable financial opportunities
3. Buying a home or paying off a home
4. Buying a car, boat or mobile home
5. Reduction or elimination of debt
6. Peace of mind, joy, relief
7. Providing money for your children or grandchildren's college education
8. Medical expenses
9. Funeral provisions
10. Vacations and recreational activities
11. Or anything else they want to buy

APF is only for those who are already receiving pension checks, or will in the near future. As timely and beneficial as this prosperous procedure is -- not many people know about it. Or they have heard about it but don't know how to get this done. If you know someone who is already receiving pension checks or will in the near future, tell them about APF. If APF seems appealing and advantageous to you, there is a way to make this happen. Profit Increase Funding has over 150 funding source companies (Factors) with billions of dollars to invest.
